Next week is court week and lawyers and clients and jurymen are busy looking up their cases and getting ready for the campaign.

John Bushey was arrested by Grand Juror Sherwin, last Saturday, and taken before Justice W. E. Dunsmuir, and fined $5 and costs for getting drunk; he appealed.

The Lander Bros., on Mountain street, have one of the prettiest places in the village. They have dug a well near the house, laid iron pipe, and brought the water to their door.

CORNWALL.

Mrs. H. G. Scovel is failing slowly. The heavy fall of rain on Tuesday last somewhat retarded planting. But how it made vegetation thrive!

Mrs. Della Thomas is home again from Orwell, where she has been some time caring for Miss Minnie Cutts.

The outlook is that the hay crop will be abundant both on the low and upland and will needs be harvested early.

John Q. Atwood and wife started last Tuesday for Chicago to visit a sister and other friends in the West. They will be absent several weeks.

The creamery of N. B. Douglas & Son is working splendidly, and the milk received is increasing daily as fast as carrying cans can be procured.

Rollo I. Landon, whose home was recently destroyed by fire, is to occupy Mrs. Rensen's house until his new house, which he is soon to erect, is ready for occupancy.

Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Julia Sampson, daughter of L. J. Sampson, and Frank Barrows, son of Dea. Barrows of New Haven. Tuesday evening, June 1.

Music will be furnished by the band. Immediately after the drama refreshments will be served. Doors open at seven; exercises commence at eight o'clock. Admission, 25 cents. A cordial invitation is extended to all. This is the

CAST OF CHARACTERS.

Mark Ashton, a silver-smith, G. M. Bond, a baker, F. E. Foster, a cooper, Harry Hanson, his son, M. S. Carr, Dick Hinkle, a journeyman baker, C. H. Parkhill, Tom Chubb, a butcher, J. E. Sperry, Kate Ashton, Mark's wife, Miss Annie E. Hurlburt, Lily Ashton, their daughter, Miss Jennie D. Robbins, Patty Jones, a Yankee girl, Miss Mary A. Brown.

Messrs. N. B. Douglas & Son report as follows concerning their separator operations: We sent three small tubs of the first churning in our creamery, of which we spoke last week, to three different commission houses, with a request that they give us their opinion of it at once. Clark Bros. of Worcester, Mass., say: "Your tub of butter is here and we call it of fine quality and will sell as high as anything in the market." A. & O. W. Mead & Co. of Boston say: "Your tub of butter came duly to hand. The quality is very nice and we think we can handle it to advantage if you can send it regularly so that we can get up a reputation for it." These gentlemen have all had large experience in the sale of separator butter and have made excellent returns. The other house has not replied yet. We have lowered our record as to yield. Our last churning gave one pound of packed butter to 22 1/2-100 pounds of milk. As the season advances and the grass becomes more mature and hearty we expect to reduce it still more.

LEICESTER.

I. Herbert Norton, who has been in Hanover, N. H., completing the work in a creamery there, will be ready on May 31 to show to the farmers of this vicinity what the creamery company can do. Every effort will be made to make it a success.

The schools in town are progressing finely. Most of the teachers are those who have given satisfaction in terms before. We feel quite willing to trust our schools with such teachers as Miss Sessions of Goshen, Miss Minnie Durgy and Miss Edith Flint of Brandon.

LINCOLN.

M. J. Stearns is making his residence and grounds very attractive. Mrs. Geo. Garland is suffering considerably from a fall, which injured one of her legs.

D. K. Johnson accompanied Mrs. Dr. Dodge to Montpelier on business, on Monday last.

Rev. Mr. Ferguson, many years ago a pastor here, preached at the Methodist church on Sunday last.

The trout supper at the Lincoln House, on the evening of the 20th inst. was a success in regard to the excellence of the supper, but we are sorry our townspeople did not patronize it better. Mr. Gove has fitted up his house very suitably and conveniently for the accommodation of the traveling public. Such a house is greatly needed here, and with a landlord of his principles, and a landlady with Mrs. Gove's well-known ability to furnish a good table and otherwise provide for the comfort of her guests, we may be sure they will keep a well-conducted, temperance house, and our citizens should encourage them when such an opportunity as that of Thursday evening is afforded them.

NEW HAVEN.

Mrs. E. D. Peck and Maude start for Denver, Colorado, Monday, May 31, to visit her son, Willis, and family. He is located there on a ranch.

Lewis Chenett of Shoreham has begun to run his meat cart here, but we understand there is to be another cart started the coming week by an Orwell firm.

Mrs. D. Brong and son left for their home in Lockport, N. Y., Monday night, via Addison Junction. They were fairly driven out by the mosquitoes.

PANTON.

Henry Warner has gone to Worcester, Mass.

J. F. Hill's new house is almost ready for occupancy. He contemplates moving next week.

John Junior has moved into the Bevins house and Ora Hoyt into the old Squire Tappen house, which the first-named vacated.

Rev. Orren Gregg, ex-presiding elder of this district, but now a resident of Minnesota, preached at the M. E. church on Sunday last.

Silas Hoyt has been renovating the old family residence by removing the large, old-fashioned fireplace and chimney, putting two windows in the south side and shingling a portion of the roof. It makes one more commodious and pleasant room.

One of the 81000 span of horses recently sold by S. S. Gaines of Vergennes was sired by the Burwell Pilot, which has sired some valuable young stock owned by farmers in this section. While some was sold last winter at a high figure, Wm. E. White, H. A. Sprague and Mrs. E. Norton have fine specimens remaining.

Wm. H. TenBrooke, who has been town clerk for more than a quarter of a century, and whose books are like a printed page, so precise and elegant is the penmanship, is driving a fine span of colts, one by Bruno, the other by Limber Boy. Mr. TenBrooke farms 300 acres and makes a specialty of breeding fine horses.

SHOREHAM.

Young people's meeting Friday evening of this week at Mr. Burge's.

Edwin Collins returned to his school at the Castleton normal, last Tuesday, having been off duty for nearly two weeks, owing to an attack of sore eyes.

Mr. R. H. Holmes was made Sunday-school superintendent last Sabbath, on the resignation of C. W. Jones, who has done faithful work in that capacity for several years.

Rev. Mr. Bartlett of Northfield preached in the Congregational church for the last two Sabbaths. He is liked very much and it is hoped he may take up his abode with us.

A new sidewalk is being built the whole length of Main street. It is made of planks and gravel—two planks with a gravelled center instead of a third plank. The funds were furnished by subscription, and the whole town is made glad by such an agreeable improvement.

WEST FERRISBURGH.

I. F. Hatch lost a brood mare, suddenly, last week.

Geo. Spencer is thoroughly repairing his barn and will have a very convenient structure.

On Saturday last Ole Allen lost a valuable mare that was sired by a son of Hale's Green Mountain Morgan. She had stood in the stable all the forenoon; before dinner she was fed her grain which she ate; after dinner she was watered and harnessed to the drag, driven three times across the garden, about six rods, and fell down dead, not moving a foot even.

WEST SALISBURY.

Mr. T. C. Branch is very ill and can live but a short time.

Rev. J. A. Heath is absent in the north part of the State. Elder Bosworth of Bristol occupied the pulpit of the M. E. church Sunday.

We are pleased to see Hon. S. P. Nash around again. He has been sick for many weeks, and his recovery was at one time considered doubtful.

The trade in veal calves was more active, Monday morning, at a slight advance in prices. Some opposition was the cause of it. About ninety calves were shipped.

Governor Henry B. Harrison of Connecticut is in town, on his annual trout-fishing excursion. The governor is an enthusiastic disciple of Isaac Walton. He is the guest of H. J. Hyde for the present.

It will soon be time for highway surveys to mutilate the roads and give the sturdy yeomanry a chance to work out their road taxes sitting about on the fences waiting for time. Our highway laws are very defective.

WEYBRIDGE.

Thomas Halo has bought the Kendrick place of George DeLong.

Col. Hurlburt goes to Brandon on Saturday with the governor.

The fine rain of Tuesday has nearly made a large hay crop sure.

Mrs. E. L. Warner, who has been ill for some time, is able to ride out a little.

Leonard Sturtevant starts next Monday for a visit to his daughter, Mrs. Palmer, at Kemper, Ill.

The creamery is running here. Milk is coming in quite freely; 62 cents a hundred is paid this week.

Our town will be well represented by Messrs. Huntington and Johnson as jurors at the county court.

W. C. Sturtevant has a fine young colt sired by Daniel Lambert. He has been offered a large sum for it already.

DECORATION DAY AT RIPTON.

Wm. H. Bliss, Esq., of Middlebury will deliver the Memorial-day address at Ripton, Monday.

VERGENNES.

Col. J. H. Lucia was in town Tuesday. Mr. Absalom Tupper was in town Saturday, looking improved in health.

Rev. B. Cox of West Addison preached last Sunday in the Methodist church.

H. V. Edmond and family think of passing a portion of the summer in this place.

The many friends of Mrs. Lieut. C. A. Booth regret to know that she is still quite indisposed.

Rev. Mr. Sherman of the Baptist church preached from the 50th verse of John 4 last Sunday.

There is a brick addition to be added to the house recently sold by H. P. Elitharp on Elbow street. Banya furnishes the brick.

The rector of St. Paul's church, Rev. Mr. Taylor, now boards with his wife and child at Mrs. M. R. Fisher's on Greene street.

Front door yards have a burthen of grass already, and the scythe and the lawn mower vie with each other in their endeavor to crop the long blades.

The Basin Harbor homestead has been run with such satisfaction to its city patrons by Mrs. Winans that we understand she has let every available room for the season.

G. H. Spriggs shipped 48 head of veal calves from this station Friday and 61 from New Haven and Middlebury stations same day. Price, 4 to 4 1/2 cents per pound.

Dr. Orange Gage made his old home a flying visit Saturday and met many friends who were pleased to take him by the hand. He is one of those rare men who can bear prosperity.

A car of mixed live stock was finished off at this depot, Friday, by the addition of the requisite number of sheep by T. A. Noonan. Martin & Squiers, No. Ferrisburgh, were the shippers.

They are driving business at the Shade Roller factory. We remarked that Superintendent Tuttle mortgaged four cars, Friday morning, at one swoop, at the station, for immediate use, for shipment of manufactured goods.

Steamboat Inspectors J. Dunham and B. J. Holt were in town last week and completed their examination of the Water Lily and next Monday she begins her regular trips, leaving Vergennes at 9 a. m. and returning from Westport at 6 p. m.

The Vergennes trotting park is one of the best in the State and is to be put in tip-top order by Mr. Peck of the Grand Union. As all know, it is on the old fair grounds. For riding, training, speeding or carriage and pleasure riding, it is all that can be desired.

"Right in the woods," Frank Dart, an employee at the depot, is putting up a snug little 20x24 dwelling and an ell 14x18 on the Ferrisburgh road, only a few rods from the depot on the Melges farm. W. B. Rose is builder and will have it ready for use in a few weeks.

Strong & Ross are full of business introducing the Little Giant road machine. Mr. E. C. Everest has been visiting the authorities of the various towns in Washington county, N. Y., making his headquarters at Ford Edward. He is a worker and he will sell them a machine before they know it.

Rev. Mr. Harris of Ferrisburgh preached Sunday in the Congregational church. His sermon was from Romans, 15th chapter, 2d verse. Life is a big bundle of little things intended to be tied together with cords of love, said the speaker, and his three points—centre, circumference and conclusion—opened a wide field for good counsel, sound advice and a certain result, which was improved, greatly to the edification of his hearers.

One of the novelties in our waters just now is the presence of the pleasure yacht, J. T. Wilson, run by kerosene. J. T. Wilson is builder, owner and captain. This is his second season on the waters of Lake Champlain. His friend, Franklin Brownell of New York, who is pilot, accompanies him. Both these gentlemen are artists and spend the season in sketching various points and scenes of interest to be met with on the bays, inlets and rivers of the lake from its source to the St. Lawrence. We were courteously invited to try the qualities of his novel craft and hope to do so at an early day.

One of the institutions of Vergennes is its circulating library, of which Miss Tucker is librarian; indeed, she has been from the beginning. It is located in the third story of the Stevens block. Many object to the difficulty of climbing such a long flight of stairs to get their books. It is a strong objection, although it cannot be denied that the prospect, when once in the library, is one of great beauty. But the library is to be removed into the bank building and the work is well advanced toward completion. The carpenter work will be finished this week. Mr. B. F. Young assures us, and then it will be painted. Probably two weeks will see the new quarters ready for occupancy.

Monday, the 31st, will be a red letter day in the celebration record of Vergennes. Hon. J. K. Batchelder, orator of Memorial day, will be in our city Saturday of this week and quite a number in addition to the boys in blue would be pleased to see him, and a reception would not be out of place. Monday will be the grand parade, with music and banners, made up of the Ethan Allen, Bristol and Weybridge posts, firemen in uniform, State school, with their drum corps, citizens, and there should be a good delegation from our schools. Given fair weather, and it will be a gala day. It is in the hands of gentlemen who know how to finish up the work they have begun.

Thirty-six young ladies and misses were consecrated at St. Peter's Roman Catholic church in Vergennes, Monday evening, in the presence of a large number of people. The altar of the Blessed Virgin was profusely ornamented with flowers, the gift of many lady members. As the thirty-six robed in their long white veils marched into the church they formed a striking picture. They were addressed by Father Campeau in English and French before their consecration. Then kneeling two by two in front of the altar they read their obligation. Many joined the Sodality, a society of peculiar value to all who wish and thus publicly affirm that they will live pure and virtuous lives.

Western people come East and eastern people visit the West every year. Mr. Chas. C. Wheeler of Chicago is without question one of the best known and thoroughly posted railroad men in the country. His experience, his discernment and his remarkable judgment are always in demand. He is known as the balance wheel in the councils of the railroad magnates of the West. He is the general superintendent of that great railroad interest, the Chicago & Northwestern railroad. Mr. Wheeler, who is a Ferrisburgh boy, comes East whenever he can, during the heated term, spends a short time with his family, at the Isle of Shoals, shakes hands with old friends here, and then returns to his arduous duties. He is expected here this summer.

Rev. G. W. Phillips will be installed as pastor of the Congregational church at Rutland on June 17.

Prohibition Candidate St. John of Kansas will make two speeches in Vermont next month, at Northfield and St. Albans.

A Richford young man named Farrar while hunting Thursday accidentally shot himself and died from the wound Friday.

Vermont furnished 34,238 men during the rebellion at a cost of over $5,000,000, including bounties that towns paid soldiers.

The Burlington Young Men's Christian association has bought a building and will apply for a charter at the coming session of the legislature.

The Vermont Baptist Sunday-School association holds an annual convention at Ludlow for three days beginning June 1. Dr. Blackall of Philadelphia has charge of the assembly and Rev. Mr. Gilford of Boston preaches the annual sermon.

Half a dozen constables surrounded a house in Danby early on a recent morning and managed to capture five members of the Phillips gang, who were lodged in the Rutland work-house. They are a rough crowd and have several indictments hanging over them.

The next annual reunion of the Vermont Officers' Reunion society will be held at Montpelier, November 3, 1886. The oration will be delivered by Gen. Francis A. Walker of Boston, and it will be upon the life and military services of Maj. Gen. Hancock.

The selectmen and village fathers of Montpelier have given notice to the hotels, drug stores, grocers and all places in Montpelier where intoxicating liquors are sold, notifying the proprietors that the places must be closed at 10:30 p. m. every night and not opened at all on Sunday.

The row in the medical department of the university at Burlington has resulted in the resignation of the obnoxious professor of surgery, Dr. L. M. Bingham. The managers of the institution now hope that the students will come back, but whether this hope will be realized is yet to be seen.

Dr. J. B. Bullard, a prominent St. Johnsbury physician, has sued Druggist G. W. Randall for slander and claims $2500 damages. The case grows out of accusations said to have been made by Mr. Randall that Dr. Bullard has stolen many expensive medicines from his store in recent years.

The Troy Conference academy at Poutney will celebrate its 50th anniversary June 10. The exercises begin at 10 o'clock a. m. Rev. Dr. Daniel Curry of New York presiding. Brief addresses will be made by Gen. George A. Batchelder of Syracuse, N. Y., Chancellor H. R. Pierson of Albany, N. Y., and Prof. James Strong, LL. D., of Drew theological seminary, and a poem by F. J. Parmenter, Esq., of Troy, N. Y.

Capt. A. G. Foster, a prominent citizen of Weston, who has held several town offices, has been arrested, charged with committing an assault upon a fifteen years' old daughter of Stephen Wyman, who is in Windsor prison. Foster is guardian to the girl, who claims that the crime was committed last November. Great excitement prevails, owing to the prominence of the defendant. He claims that the affair is a blackmailing scheme, worked up by enemies.

Mart Mathers of Bennington is charged with having caused the death of his wife, which occurred on the 11 inst., by brutality and ill-usage. It is alleged that her husband maltreated, pounded and kicked her when she was too ill to sit up; that a short time before her death he came home intoxicated, dragged her from her bed by the hair of the head, choked her, stood her up on her feet and then knocked her over a chair, when she sustained injuries which resulted in her death.

Mrs. H. E. Nason, who has been having a hearing at Rutland on a charge of poisoning her son-in-law, Don C. Parker, has been discharged by Justice Bailey. He gave his opinion that it was conceded on all hands that Parker was poisoned and died from its effects. The evidence as to who gave the poison was not clear and not sufficient to justify him in holding Mrs. Nason. This decision does not prevent the State's attorney from arraigning Mrs. Nason before the grand jury at the September term.

More than three months ago a barn owned by Zela Shedd, near the village of Rockingham, was burned and the remains of a horse, supposed to be a valuable one owned by Shedd, were found in the ruins. A man named Simpson, well known in Bellows Falls as a milkman, was arrested Tuesday night at Bartonville, charged with having put a worthless horse in the barn and taken Shedd's, then burned the barn and the old horse to cover his theft. The missing horse of Shedd's is said to have been found in his possession.

W. J. Pelper, a plausible young man who has been living in Rutland all winter, was arrested Thursday night while trying to leave town with a lot of unpaid bills behind him. He came to town with his wife, has moved in the best society and gained the confidence of business men, whom it is believed he has victimized to a considerable extent. He was found Thursday night at the house of a prominent young woman, who paid $95 to satisfy a claim which the sheriff brought along with him. Pelper turns out to belong to a respectable Philadelphia family, but, as he was fast, his father sent him up to Rutland. The old gentleman has been up and paid the young man's bills.

Plymouth White, known also as "Plym" White and "Frank Parker," who died at his brother's house in Reading last week, conducted swindling operations during his life, amounting to over $1,500,000. He was well educated, dressed in the best of taste, possessed an oily tongue, a frank, open countenance and a venerable, clerical appearance—a make-up withal that deceived hundreds of business men as well as farmers and women. White's first operation that brought him into prominence was the California gold-dust swindle in 1849, which netted him some $400,000. He escaped arrest by fleeing to Europe. He fled to New York, where he was arrested by the New York out of $111,000, and while in jail for the operation, he was able to make out of $20,000. Once he opened a big dry-goods store at Kansas City, bought goods of eastern dealers worth $275,000, and after selling them cleared out with the money. He took $100,000 out of Alderman Libbey of New York. He crossed the ocean 16 times to escape arrest, and on one of the return trips he fell in with another rogue named Fiske, and, joining hands, they deceived many thousands of dollars out of the Canadians. His knack in saving himself from punishment when caught was no less remarkable than his power of deception. The money thus obtained slipped through his hands like water, principally at the gaming table.
